THE MOUNT ROMANCE STORY

The Mt Romance story began in Albany, on the south coast of Western Australia where a husband and wife team spent countless nights creating cosmetics to sell at local markets. As the business grew they identified a tremendous opportunity – Pure Australian Sandalwood Oil. A niche market for this unique, underdeveloped resource looked possible. All it needed was passion and determination to develop Australian Sandalwood Oil into a domestic and export success story.

Some fifteen years later, Mount Romance has grown to a business employing fifty people with an established supply of Sandalwood for the purpose of extraction. The move into Sandalwood has made Mount Romance an internationally renowned producer and manufacturer of pure Australian Sandalwood Oil, a treasured ingredient in fragrances of some of the most famous perfume houses throughout Europe.

Sandalwood Oil goes beyond being just a precious fragrance. Further research has found many unique therapeutic benefits related to the inhalation of the oil vapour that can aid relaxation, stress relief and asthma sufferers.

DID YOU KNOW?

PURE RELAXATION

Used in incense for centuries to aid meditation, there has always been something magical about the aroma of Sandalwood Oil. The rich, woody scent of pure Australian Sandalwood Oil is now beginning to reveal a more complex character with confirmed benefits that go beyond this wonderful scent.

Joint Swiss and Australian research now confirms that deep inhalation of Sandalwood vapour creates a series of positive physiological changes to the body. Most promising is its positive effect on the health of the nervous system.

As Sandalwood fragrance molecules are inhaled slowly through our nose, the brain's nerve endings are able to transport the active compounds of the vapour to the epicentre of the nervous system. Here they contribute to a release of feel good serotonin and dopamine that help us feel calm and relaxed, helping reduce nervous tension and stress. A remarkable aspect of this relaxant ability is that our mind remains clear and focussed, allowing the oil to be used without fear of drowsiness or when high levels of concentration are required. Sandalwood Oil has also been successfully used to relax the mind prior to body massage enhancing the overall benefit.

Topical application of the oil has also been shown to help reduce systolic blood pressure and slow the resting pulse and breathing rate, leaving the user in a state of deep, almost meditative, relaxation.

The astounding benefits of pure Australian Sandalwood Oil have to be tried to be believed. Those who have tried the concept are amazed to notice the powerful, physiological effects that deep inhalation has on their body and mind, with decreased stress levels, improved concentration and a feeling of tranquillity being common experiences. "It was like being born again, like the birth of time" enthused a Perth executive, not usually prone to exaggeration, following the effect of the enchanting gongs in our specially designed Sandalwood Cone.

"The way to good health is to have an aromatic bath and a scented massage every day."
